

Dr. R.D.Singh

Dr,R.D Singh

Professor

Specialization- Regional Planning, Environmental Studies and sustainable development

Professor R.D Singh after obtaining B.Sc degree from Ranchi University in 1974, joined Ravishankar Shukla University Raipur and obtained his M.A in Geography in 1977 and topped in the University . He then joined Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur and obtained Master of Regional Planning Degree (equivalent to M.Tech) in1979 .In the meantime he joined as assistant Director ,Town and Country Planning Organization in Govt. of Madhya Pradesh at Raipur in1981 and in1982, he again resumed his PhD program at I.I.T Kharagpur in1983, he joined Institute of Economic Development and Planning at Naples Italy ,and obtained his Postgraduate Diploma in Economics Planning .He joined Barkatullah University ,Bhopal in 1985 and has continued till then in different capacities.

Professor R.D Singh organized a National Conference in 1989 in department organized and developed Environment and sustainable Development studies Programme in 1995, he has published many research paper in reputed research journals in the field of regional Planning and sustainable Development and Environmental studies. Currently, he is pursuing two-research project funded by Indian council of agriculture research and university grant commission New Delhi. He has guided many PhD research in regional Development, sustainable Development etc. the president of India recognized his contribution and has referred for eco regional planning for sustainable development of rural areas in India to the planning commission .b the UNESCO has appreciated the programme on environment and sustainable studies in its Asian university meeting held in at Ahmadabad in January 2005.